ACRE OF BEAUTIES

WONDERS OF PLANT WORLD ON MR. FREEMAN KELLEY'S HORTICULTURAL RANCH

On an acre of prolific soil on Glendale avenue, between First and Second streets, Mr. Freeman Kelley of the firm of Kelley & McElroy, florists, Brand boulevard, has gathered together one of the most unique collections of trees, plants, shrubs and flowers in the district. This little Eden spot he calls "Home Acre," though, as he says, when he gets it into a more advanced stage of development he may change the name.

Here are very many rare species brought from various quarters and more than 1000 seedling orange trees, ready to be budded. On these healthy stocks will be budded pumelos (grapefruit) and different kinds of oranges and lemons.

In another quarter are many kinds of guavas, the famous West Indian fruit. Chief among them are the yellow strawberry guava, which is a very delicious fruit, and the yellow lemon guava, a species that seems always to be attacked by frost when it is ready to ripen. For this reason horticulturists have not succeeded in growing it, but Mr. Kelley thinks that in the non-frostless belt in which his ranch is situated it will bring forth fruit.

Figs of every kind can be found here also. The white Smyrna fig, which is a delicious fruit; the Adriatic and the brown Ischia. Here, too, the alligator pear or Avocado, is found growing, though not old enough yet to bear fruit. Those interested in this fruit will be pleased to learn that this particular tree has been grown from a slip from the famous tree in Whittier, which is credited with producing an income of $3000 yearly. Here, too, are two rows of Avocado seedlings.

What has made the reputation of Japan as a flower-loving nation—the cherry blossom—is here in all of its beauty. This is the famous Japanese double-flowering cherry. Apples, apricots, pears and plums in seedling form are to be found here in commercial quantities.

Among rare trees and shrubs are to be found blooming here the purple Persian lilac and side by side with that beautiful production the Casurina, a species of conifer, which bears cones like the pine; the Australian beefwood, so called because it has a species of hard red wood that appears something like beef in texture and color. This, Mr. Kelley says, would make the very best kind of street tree, being not too tall, shady, picturesque, hardy and impervious to insect and scale.

On the other side of the Casurina grows the Australian flame tree (brachychiton acerifolia), which gets its half Greek, half Latin name from the short tunic-like bells which its flower shows.

One of the rarer species of trees to be seen here is the Macadamia or Tasmanian nut, which produces a nut something like a pecan, but triangular. Another beautiful tree is the Pittosporum Undulatum, which bears out its name by growing its trunk in wave-like form, while similar wave-like bends are to be seen in the leaves.

Here, too, grows the sweet-scented flowering yellow acacia, the blossoms of which fetch a high price. Of one tree of this species last year Mr. Kelley sold $35 worth of blossoms. Beside this golden tree grow some fine specimens of live oaks and a row of spineless cactus. The Sterculia Diversifolia (Australian bottle tree), so called because the trunk has to a certain extent the shape of a bottle, spreads its rich green foliage on the other side. Here, too, is a large, broad-leaved Wiegandia and a rare Aurucaria—the Aurucaria Bidwelli; the white Sapote (Cassimiroa Edulis), which bears a most delicious fruit, is a close neighbor, and the flowering pomegranate bears it company. The Torrey pine, which grows in only two parts of the world, the Himalayas and La Jolla, is here also, having been slipped from the La Jolla pines.

Mr. Kelley is very apt at collecting wild flowers and plants and domesticating them. He has here the mountain phlox, with its beautiful purple blossoms; the mountain mahogany and the native mountain currant; the scarlet pentstemon from the foothills; the native holly and many others that have taken kindly to captivity.

Prunus Pissardia, a beautiful red-leafed, red-fruited plum; the custard apple; an avocado that bears two crops of fruit in a year; the Japanese persimmon; numerous rare species of acacia, and a beautiful palm (Phoenix Reclinata), and the presentable Matilija poppy, are among others of the wonders of this little nook of floral delight.

CLUB CLOSES TERM

GLENDALE SHAKESPEARE SOCIETY ADJOURNS FOR SUMMER MONTHS

Members and friends of the Glendale Shakespeare club met at the home of Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan, 1550 Myrtle street, on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock for the closing session of the summer term. Sixty ladies were present. After a short business session Mrs. Sloan took charge of the program and held her audience entranced by her versatile rendering of "Hamlet." The reading lasted two hours and during that time the gifted interpreter of the great dramatist astounded and enthralled her hearers by her clever impersonations of the different characters.

Before entering on the dramatic reading of the play, Mrs. Sloan gave a historical sketch of the life and works of Shakespeare and displayed insight into the motives that influenced him and the events that moulded his character.

In the course of the dramatic reading of the play Mrs. Sloan showed the marvelous qualities of her highly trained voice, which is also naturally endowed with pleasing qualities, wonderful flexibility and wide range. Whether exhibiting the deep notes of the melancholy Dane or the maiden purity of Ophelia, with the undertone of grief and the overtone of insanity; the vacant roar of the second grave-digger or the pompous, illiterate shrewdness of the first grave-digger, the reader was always true to character and as widely different in expression as the character demanded.

At the close of the reading little Miss Margaret Lou Ledbetter, the club's mascotte, gracefully presented Mrs. Sloan, on behalf of the members of the club, with a basket of roses, the foliage of which consisted of crisp new greenbacks.

Among those present were: Mesdames S. C. Leppleman, Frank Hester, C. W. Anderson, C. E. Hutchinson, A. S. Chase, R. L. Hinckley, V. Price Brown, Arthur Babcock, Mary Dorflinger, May Patch, A. R. Dimmick, G. D. Roach, C. M. Van Dyke, F. H. Evarts, R. G. Payne, J. S. Rochester, J. W. Cousins, M. Sohner, E. E. Hall, Earl Ledbetter, G. M. Harrison, Alfred Landmann, C. W. Houston, Bert Ward, Irene Welchmann, Opal Greenwalt, A. C. Chappell, R. A. Peterson, Calvin Whiting, Laura McKeehan and Dr. Jessie A. Russell. The Misses Louise De Merz, Gladys Justema, Estella Filger, Dorothy Moffatt, Frances Payne, Dorothy Bonnell, Frances Newell and Gladys Lowe. Master Billie Justema was the only gentleman present.

The club will resume activities on Wednesday, September 8, at the home of the president, Mrs. Sloan.

HIGH SCHOOL ROMANCE

Friends of Kenneth F. Vail, the energetic young real estate man who has recently come to Glendale, will be interested to know that there is a romance back of his enterprise and devotion to business. On March 15 of this year Mr. Vail, who was then in high school in Hartford, Conn., eloped with a young lady, Miss Elizabeth Cooley, and they were married in St. John's Episcopal church in Northampton, Mass. Both young people were prominent in society and the elopement caused quite a sensation. The parents think the young bridegroom should "make good" before taking his bride so far from her home, hence his businesslike attitude at all times.

The Morning Courant of Hartford, Conn., says of Mr. Vail:

"Kenneth F. Vail, son of Mr. and Mrs. James D. Vail of 273 Farmington avenue, the young high school boy who secretly married Miss Elizabeth Cooley of West Hartford, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph W. Cooley, in March, more than a month before he left on a trip to the West, is engaged in the real estate business in Glendale, Cal.

"Copies of the Glendale Evening News, which have been received in this city, contain large three-column advertisements inserted by young Vail, who, as a representative of Claude S. Hamilton, a prominent Los Angeles real estate dealer, has opened an office at 1106 West Broadway, Glendale.

"His young bride is still in this city, awaiting the time when her husband will be able to send for her."

The statement has been made that if the Krupp factory were to quit producing guns and paraphernalia of war, it could make enough plowshares in one day to supply the demand of the United States for fifty years, and enough binders to supply grain growers in the country for the next twenty-five years.

NORTH GLENDALE

Mrs. Clara Robinson of the Collins Millinery company of Los Angeles is enjoying her annual vacation of two weeks at her home, 1528 Lorraine street.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Dennerlen of Rosemore cottage, 1305 Central avenue, were guests of Mrs. Dennerlen's brother and wife, Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Humelbaugh, of West Thirtieth street, Los Angeles, Tuesday evening at a beautifully appointed dinner party given in honor of guests from Maxwell, Iowa.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Fairchild of 1321 Arden avenue, with Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Blue of Fairmont avenue and Mr. Spencer Murry of New York, formed a merry party who motored to Pine Crest in the Little Bear valley last Sunday, where they enjoyed the day fishing.

Mrs. J. W. Cousins of 1501 Lorraine street entertained as her house guests very recently two of her schoolmate friends formerly from her old home in Cavenovia, Wis., Mrs. J. W. Sweeney, now of Trinidad, Colo., and Mrs. Richard Myers of Abbotsford, Wis. It is almost needless to state how happy these old time friends were to meet again and what a delightful time they had talking of the good old times in the dear old school days.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Thompson of Westgate motored to North Glendale last Saturday and were the week-end guests of Mrs. Laura Steele of 1528 Lorraine street. Sunday the party, with Mr. T. R. Thompson and Miss Ella Steele, motored to San Jacinto, leaving Mr. Charles Thompson at the Hot Springs, where he will stay and take the baths for a few weeks, the other members of the party returning Monday evening.

TO OVERSEE SWIMMING

There has been recently an insistent demand that one of the playground supervisors should accompany such boys as may wish to go swimming during the hot weather. It has therefore been suggested that one of them accompany such boys to Kelly's serervoir certain afternoons during the week in order that they may enjoy a plunge. The playground committee thinks favorably of the plan and will make provision for having Hastings Bidwell, superintendent of the Central avenue playground, stationed at the reservoir. Watch the columns of the Glendale Evening News for further information with regard to the days which will be arranged for this exercise.

TROPICO

An exciting ball game is scheduled for Sunday, August 15, which will be played on the municipal playgrounds on San Fernando boulevard at 2:30 o'clock. The teams that will contest for honors in this lively rivalry are our own Tropico boys and the Commerce team. The line-up of the Tropicos is as follows: Kalts, catcher; Gilmore, pitcher; Sisney, first base; Gabaig, second base; Fishel, shortstop; Markwith, third base; Morse, left field; Scofield, center field; Cools, right field, Gabaig, substitute. The Commerce line-up is: MacClain, catcher; Wate, first base; Soulks, second base; Laning, shortstop; Brooks, third base; Gould, left field; Donnelly, center field; Andrew, right field.

The shirt waist dance to be given this evening at the K. of P. hall for the benefit of the municipal playgrounds, promises to be the leading social event of the week. Much interest is manifested by the young society folks, who are desirous of assisting this worthy cause. Busch's orchestra will furnish the music for the merry dancers.

Miss Elsie Anderson of Virginia place visited Huntington Beach on Wednesday and assisted with the program given that evening by N. P. Banks Post, Corps and Sons of Veterans.

Harris Roake of the Roake garage on South Brand boulevard made a hurried business trip to San Pedro Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Eustace Benton Moore of Blanche avenue are spending a most delightful vacation in San Francisco visiting the exposition and other places of interest.

Mrs. W. A. Dutton and daughter, Miss Eva Dutton of Virginia place, left for San Francisco on Thursday by boat, where they will spend several weeks.

Mrs. Georgia Woolley of Pasadena, formerly of Glendale, visited in Tropico Wednesday as the guest of her brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Bullis of North Central avenue.

Mrs. Mamie Judy and son of San Diego are the house guests of Mrs. Delia Hapgood of West Tropico avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Hibbert of Sotoyome on South Brand boulevard, accompanied by Leona and Walter Hibbert, are spending the week in Huntington Beach.

Money earned by the spender is spent with a carefulness that is unknown to the one who falls heir to his spending money.

PICNIC FOR PYTHIANS

LOCAL LODGES MAKING ELABORATE PREPARATIONS TO ENTERTAIN VISITORS

That 3000 Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters will attend the Southern California Pythian picnic to be held in Verdugo park on Labor Day, September 6, is the belief of G. C. Barlow, chairman of the picnic committee, appointed by the Pythian congress of Los Angeles. The congress is the clearinghouse for all lodges of Southern California. Mr. Barlow has visited every lodge in Southern California and his estimate of the number likely to be in attendance at the annual picnic is based on accurate figures.

Arrangements for the picnic are being made by Glendale Miradero lodge, Tropico Visor lodge and Tropico La Halla temple of Pythian Sisters. Miradero lodge officials: Bert P. Woodard, chancellor-commander; Lloyd Seager, vice chancellor; Dick Mills, prelate; O. S. Sampson, master-at-arms; Will Shaver, master of exchequer; D. O. Nicoles, master of finance; H. M. Miller, master of work; Fred Deal, keeper of records and seal; O. E. Wright, inner guard; F. H. Dickman, outer guard. These officials are acting in conjunction with the officials of Visor lodge of Tropico: A. M. Watson, chancellor-commander; A. J. McAdams, vice chancellor; Sam Brown, prelate; C. C. Rittenhouse, master of work; F. H. Davis, keeper of records and seal; E. Z. Coleman, master of finance; E. R. Best, master of exchequer; Noble Ropley, master-at-arms; Robert Danner, inner guard; A. T. Davis, outer guard.

La Halla temple of Pythian Sisters is also acting along with the two local lodges through its officials: Past chief, Edith McKeever; most excellent chief, Josephine Beyea; mistress of records, Margaret Coleman; mistress of finance, Susie Miller-Peck; excellent senior, Blanche Shea; excellent junior, Quintina Hammond; manager, Dora Howe; protector, Ivy Roberson; guard, Alma Dutton.

Miradero lodge has appointed a special committee consisting of H. M. Miller, Fred Deal and J. E. McIver to act along with Visor lodge's committee, Dr. Mabry, J. J. Burke and Sam Brown, in conjunction with the committee of La Halla temple.

Glendale was fortunate in securing this picnic to be held at Verdugo park. The annual picnic of the Pythian order of Southern California has always hitherto been held at one or the other of the beaches. This year there was strong bidding for it on the part of the beaches and also of Eagle Rock grove, Sycamore grove and Schuetzen park. Verdugo park, however, carried the day. The picnickers are anxious to be where there is natural running water and plenty of tree shade.

This will be a great ad for both Glendale and Tropico. In order to get to Verdugo park the visitors must pass through both places. Every preparation is being made to have the park in excellent order for the crowd on September 6. The dancing hall is having one side taken out while another hall is being built alongside of it. This will double the floor capacity. The band will occupy the center. Free lemonade and coffee will be dispensed. There will be a ball game, drills of the uniformed Pythian companies and the Elks' crack drill team, races and games of every kind.

The dramatic order of Knights of Khorasan, a Pythian institution that corresponds to the Shriners in Masonry, will be present in uniform. All the seating capacity and table capacity in the park will be largely increased. There will be new restrooms and other conveniences. The police band of Los Angeles will be present. One hundred men of the brotherhood will start in working at once to clear the park up, destroy weeds and generally put the whole place in first-class order for the visitors.

PRESBYTERIAN YOUNG PEOPLE, ATTENTION!

The Christian Endeavor society will give a "hard time social" to the young people of the church Friday evening, August 13, in the church social hall. Everyone is to wear a "hard time" costume. Anyone not wearing one will be fined not more than fifty cents and not less than twenty-five cents. To the young lady and young gentleman wearing the most appropriate costumes, prizes will be awarded. Tropico Presbyterian Endeavorers will be the guests of the evening. A large attendance is expected and a jolly good time promised. Come!

STUDY AT LIBRARY

CHILDREN LEARN OF THE RED CROSS WORK OF FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE

Interest in the children's hour at the public library deepens every day. There was a very large attendance at the Wednesday morning hour, when Mrs. Danford gave a most interesting talk on the work of Florence Nightingale, the "Angel of the Crimea." The children were deeply interested in this subject, as the war in Europe has brought before them in striking manner the work of the Red Cross nurse.

Mrs. Danford told of the old war between Britain and France as allies against Russia and of the horrors of the field hospitals and even of the hospitals at the bases, where without proper attendance or even sanitation the wounded died more frequently from infected wounds and typhoid than from the actual injuries received in battle. The children learned how Florence Nightingale, a high-souled English woman, went over to the scene of the war; organized a band of volunteer nurses—many of them ladies of high rank; how the hospitals were soon made sanitary; infectious fevers reduced to a small percentage and the death rate brought down to a normal figure. They heard how by the unselfish labor of this devoted lady the whole army hospital system was reorganized and the public interested in the life of the soldier; how the British public gave all honor to the work of the first Red Cross women and how the nation gave Miss Nightingale a sum of $250,000 as a recognition of her services and how she at once endowed a hospital with the money.

Turning from the Red Cross work of another land to the gentler labors of two sweet young American ladies, Mrs. Danford gave a brief sketch of the life work of the two sisters, Alice and Phoebe Cary, who were born in the Miami valley in a picturesque home near Cincinnati, Ohio. She narrated how the sisters educated themselves and how they both exhibited marked poetical powers at an early age, Alice, the elder sister, publishing a poem when she was eighteen years old. The sisters went to New York City, where they were cordially received and lionized.

Mrs. Danford told of Alice's poems, "The Clovernook Papers," "Lyra," "Songs and Ballads," etc; of Phoebe's "Poems of Faith" and of how with all the elder sister's cleverness, it is the younger sister's hymn, "Nearer Home," that is remembered by the American public.

Miss Cora Louise Butterfield of 815 South Louise street afforded the children much pleasure by reciting a charming poem written by herself.

ACTIVITY IN BASEBALL

Activity is the characteristic of the baseball teams of Glendale. Under the guidance of Hastings Bidwell the Central avenue playground team seems to be doing excellent work. In a fast game with the Union high school playground team Wednesday the Centrals beat the Union highs 30 to 6. Most of the Central's heavy scoring, however, was made in the beginning of the game, when Union high was trying out its pitchers. Finally they hit on Van Osdale and Merritt Brown, who held the Centrals to one run only after they got into form.

The teams were: Central avenue—Terry, Beach, Williamson, Mitchell, Brown, Jenkins, England, Snider and Plannett. The batteries were Williamson and Brown.

Union high school team—Garrott, Eddie, Bassett, Brown, Mills, Clemens, Van Osdale, Henry Doll and R. Brown. Batteries, Van Osdale and Merritt Brown.

In the game between Union high school playground team and Pacific avenue, Myron's team beat Pacific avenue, 24 to 2.

KALEM COMPANY ACTIVE

Quite an interesting number of the famous hotel mystery series are being produced this week by Mr. James Horne, manager of the Kalem company. This number is known as "The Silver Service Set." The silver service used in this production was lent to the Kalem company by the Alexandria hotel, Los Angeles. It is worth $4000.

Among other striking features of the Kalem railway production will be the dynamiting of a shack in the canyon back of the studio this week. Mr. Davis is working on a fire scene in "The Hazards of Helen."

BUSINESS CONDITIONS IMPROVING

If any authority on the business situation can be believed it must surely be those firms of shrewd business credit men who hold in their hands the statistics of the business of the country. One of the foremost of these firms is Dun's which from New York to San Diego, from Seattle to Galveston, knows to a dollar what the business world is doing.

It is therefore reassuring to learn from this authority that during the first half of the year, business in California has been in better shape than was anticipated and that the month of June showed substantial advance, both in sales and collections. Bank clearings were slightly less than in the first half of 1914. Real estate sales were $14,335,296 as against $14,541,845 for the same period of 1914. Building, however, showed a very large decrease—slightly more than $6,000,000.

Exports, it is stated, showed a good increase. Conditions, while adverse were not so bad as might have been expected and the outlook for the fall trade is excellent. A great deal of the money Great Britain, France and Russia have been sending in for military equipment and ammunition has been distributed widely throughout the country and is making an appreciable difference in purchasing power. These conditions are also improving and in sections of the country where this work is pursued there has been and continues to be considerable prosperity.

Harvest conditions are such as to make a demand for harvest equipment and with the distribution of harvesting wages there has come an increased demand for groceries everywhere. It is true that in such businesses as that of the cloak and suit trade there is quite a stagnation. At the same time there are indications that even the clothing business is on the eve of picking up. People need food and will purchase it while they may continue to wear old clothes until better times come back.

Dun's reports, as we all know, that the two California expositions have attracted a great many people to this coast and that those travelers have spent a large amount of money in the state. It is likely that at least 6,000,000 people have visited the San Francisco fair,—that being a reasonable proportion of the 10,000,000 admissions to be considered as paid entries. Supposing only half of those were from outside the state; yet not one of them could have spent less than $5 a day; some of them a great deal more, probably five times more. That means a very enormous amount of money anyway. It is never safe to state the limit in an estimate. From all that distribution of money, the state cannot have failed to have benefited.

It appears that the banks have plenty of money for legitimate requirements and no difficulty has been experienced in financing the fruit crop movement. Savings banks are lending more freely on mortgages and it is good news that loans are being effected at a slightly reduced interest.

APPRECIATION OF NEWSPAPER SERVICE

One of the most difficult parts of the management of a small daily country newspaper is to get its patrons to distinguish between what is legitimate publicity and what should be paid advertising. If a newspaper does not make money it will very soon go out of existence. While moneymaking is not the sole end of a newspaper it is necessary that the financial section of the business be run on business principles or the newspaper will be compelled to close up.

On this reef, many an accomplished newspaper editor and manager has come to grief. Quite a section of the public has not been educated up to understand that a newspaper is just like any other business. It has something to sell and by selling that something it earns a living and justifies its existence. If it cannot sell publicity but is compelled to give it away for nothing its end is not far off.

No genius, no brilliancy of education will save an editor and manager of a newspaper from bankruptcy if he has not the "savoir faire" to keep the public on the right side of the line that divides legitimate publicity from paid advertising. It is therefore pleasing to receive testimony such as that contained in a letter recently sent by the Glendale Lodge Elks White Star patrol committee acknowledging the services rendered that body in liberal announcements made for them during the past season. "We attribute a great deal of our success to you," says the letter which is signed by Bert T. Anderson, Joseph Fortunato, F. E. Beyea and J. A. Gregory.

This is a pleasing tribute to the policy of the Glendale Evening News and a graceful acknowledgement of services rendered. The Elks have shown in a most substantial manner that they felt that our services deserved recognition by sending their patronage to this ofice both in the form of printing and advertising. For such patrons there will always be even more than the legitimate amount of publicity. Reciprocity of this kind stimulates business, cultivates self respect on both sides and helps a newspaper like the Glendale Evening News to increase and better its equipment for better service to the community.

Always and at all times this newspaper will print the news. It may even strain a point and print news that should really take the form of paid advertising, under certain public conditions; but always and at all times it will insist that where a society or a body is making a profit, advertising, whether under the form of publicity or otherwise must be paid for.

To the patrons of our newspaper, we have always given a liberal amount of free advertising and will continue to do so when circumstances justify it; but reciprocity is a law of business. This newspaper intends to live and become even more of a community help than it is at present and in order to do it, must adhere to the business principles on which, like any other business it has been established, by which it lives and moves and has its being.

This letter from the Elks is indeed refreshing and encouraging and is all the more appreciated because it is in direct contrast to the methods of some other organizations in their attitude toward us, after we had been most liberal in giving them publicity.

THE MESSAGE OF AMERICA

Adapted from the second memorial address of Abraham Lincoln—Neither party expected for the war, the magnitude or the duration which it has already attained. Each looked for an easy triumph, and a result less fundamental and astounding. Both read the same Bible and pray to the same God, and each invokes His aid against the other. The prayer of both cannot be answered.

Fondly do we hope, fervently do we pray, that this mighty scourge of the war may speedily pass away.

With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us bind up the wounds, care for him who shall have borne the battle, his widow and his orphans and do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among all nations.

SUMMER FOREST FIRES

At the very doors of Glendale, in the little suburb of Eagle Rock, a striking example of the danger of brush fires was seen the other day. There the danger was to dwelling houses, which were threatened with destruction and saved with difficulty. There was no fire engine in Eagle Rock and no provision against the fire danger. That appears to be what is wrong with the supervision of the big forests that constitute the watershed districts of this and other states. A reasonable expenditure is grudged for preventive measures and millions of dollars are thus lost every year by summer fires.

If the destruction of the timber involved in these fires were all the loss it would be enough. No state can afford to view with indifference the destruction of any portion of its natural wealth. The state is like the individual; if it is imprudent and thoughtless, wasteful and disregardful of the proper economy of its natural resources the time will come when it will suffer bitterly for its lack of foresight.

If the recent fire at Eagle Rock had destroyed a few houses the community would probably have thought it time to get a fire engine. How much better to get one now and to receive the initial benefit of its installation in reduced insurance rates. In the case of Lytle Creek canyon which has been devastated over and over again by summer fires and yet has apparently little heed paid to its cruel destruction, the expenditure of some money in providing additional forest rangers and watchers during the summer months would pay for itself over and over again, not only in property saved but also in the conservation of the natural watershed.

In the present destructive fire in Lytle Creek, the fire is wiping out the water supply of Rialto and the Fontana orange district.

It is very difficult to create a natural barrier of trees that will conserve the rains, prevent floods and keep up the water supply of a district. It takes years to create such a forest wall; but it only takes days to wipe it out by fire. It seems a great pity that measures cannot be taken to send sufficient men into such a district as Lytle Creek, at the beginning of the hot season, so as to check a fire as soon as it starts. It would pay over and over again in the long run. Whether in a city or on a watershed, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.

It is only natural for men to protect themselves in time of trouble, but in protecting themselves, care should be taken not to work a hardship on their fellowman.

Do not complain too much about the brilliancy of the sunshine for the cloudy days are not nearly so desirable.

To day is the time to attend to the important duties of nobody knows what tomorrow will bring forth.

Every dog has his day but most dogs do their prowling at night.

Proper management coupled with judicious physical or mental work will often accomplish great results.

Time hangs heavy on the hands of the indolent man.

FLAX, HEMP AND RAMIE

The culture of these valuable textile plants has lately received an impetus in several localities which promises important developments. The soil in some places along the Sacramento and San Joaquin rivers is suitable for producing a fine quality of hemp. The California cotton mills of Oakland buy nearly all the hemp grown in this state, which is manufactured into twine of various kinds, for all of which there is a market in the state.

Address, Westlake hospital, 642 South Alvarado street, Los Angeles.

Dr. Roy V. Hogue arrived at another milestone in his busy and happy life Sunday and though he endeavored to forget the fact, Mrs. Hogue decided to recall the same in a most delightful manner. A happy family reunion was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Hogue, 1418 Myrtle street, Sunday and the genial doctor was oblivious to the fact that he was the honored guest until he was summoned to the dining-room, where a huge birthday cake surmounted by lighted tapers recalled the fact that someone's birthday anniversary was being celebrated and after counting those tapers Dr. Hogue then realized that he and he only was the recipient of this honor. White roses and golden hued poppies were used most effectively in the pretty decorations. Seated with Dr. and Mrs. Hogue were Mrs. Addie Allen, Mrs. E. L. Tuck of Santa Rita, N. M.; Mr. and Mrs. L. Linkogel, Misses Eula and Myrl Linkogel and Master Benjy Hogue.

Mrs. Frank Grosvenor, 1421 Burchett street, with her son, Steve Beebe, are to leave this week for San Francisco, where Mrs. Grosvenor will visit some of her friends and Master Beebe will be a visitor of his friend, Richard Kefishyan.

Again has Mrs. Ella W. Richardson extended the use of her beautiful home and spacious and attractive grounds for the benefit of the Pacific avenue playgrounds. Friday evening Mrs. Richardson will give a benefit social and dancing party on her lawn and tennis court. A small admission fee of five and ten cents will be charged. Everyone is invited.

MISSIONARY PICNIC

The Woman's Missionary society of the First Baptist church will hold their annual picnic at La Ramada park Saturday, August 14. These ladies will meet at 2:30, when the mission study lesson will be conducted by Miss Maude Salisbury, taking up chapter 22 of "The King's Highway." Supper will be served at 6:30 to which the families of the church are cordially invited. Coffee will be served at ten cents per cup. All are requested to bring well filled baskets, also plates, knives and forks.

HERE FROM ARIZONA

Mrs. Floyd Cherry and two children of Tempe, Ariz., are here for an extended visit with Mr. Cherry's parents, E. R. Cherry and wife, 220 South Central avenue, and their many old friends in Glendale.

Mrs. Cherry reports that they like their situation very much, where Mr. Cherry has an important government position. Apropos to the unusual hot weather we have been having, Mrs Cherry made the remark on Wednesday evening that she thought she would have to go back to Tempe to cool off."

GREAT IOWA ANNUAL PICNIC

From all over the Southland the Iowans are turning their thoughts to the great picnic and summer reunion at Bixby park, Long Beach, Saturday, August 14. The program will include the registration by counties all day, the picnic dinners at noon, with hot coffee furnished free by the Earl Cowan company; speaking and singing at 2 o'clock, awarding of prizes at 4 o'clock, the college reunions from 3 to 4, and splendid daylight fireworks at the pier down town from 5 to 6 o'clock. The committees will be in the park at 6 a. m. to have all things in readiness and soon after the hosts of Hawkeyes will pour in by rail, by electric, by auto and even by wagon and on foot.

The best-known speaker will probably be President Seerley of the Iowa State Teachers' college, who is known to all the state as an educator. Prof. Herbert Francis Evans of Grinnell, Hon. D. H. Snoke of Davenport and other visitors will bring greetings. Everyone should bring basket dinner and spend a long, happy day with the old home folks. After the picnic is over go up and see the daylight fireworks and stay for an evening on the Pike. It is the rare chance to see the Iowa friends and some 25,000 will gather for the fun and frolic.

LA CRESCENTA THROUGH CARS

Seven through trains daily from Los Angeles to La Crescenta are arranged for in an agreement reached between the Pacific Electric and the Glendale & Montrose railway, says the Los Angeles Times. The time table has been perfected and operation is being held up only pending decision of certain matters by the Glendale city trustees and the state railroad commission.

The Pacific Electric will use the Glendale & Montrose company's tracks from Brand boulevard and Broadway, Glendale, to Montrose and La Crescenta. Additional trains will be added as traffic justifies the increase.

This through service will undoubtedly stimulate development of Glendale and the La Crescenta and La Canada valleys, which latter district contains the residences of ex-United States Senator Frank P. Flint, Dr. F. D. Lanterman and many others, while at La Crescenta are the residences of Harvey Bissell, Mrs. Fred Eaton and many others, with the ex-Lieutenant-Governor Wallace home between.

The railroad passes through the extensive holdings of United States Circuit Judge Ross and the large acreage of the Thom estate, most of which are planted to fine orange and lemon groves, and skirts beautiful Verdugo park, the large vineyards of the Mesnager company and the fine undeveloped holdings of Miss Myra Hershey, the Vickers estate, the picturesque townsite of Montrose and is quite close to other holdings that are about to be subdivided.

HOT IN FRESNO

Glendale people who have been complaining of the excessively hot weather the past few weeks will be interested in knowing that there are some places where it is hotter. Mr. Wilmot Parcher of 728 West Eighth street is transacting business in Fresno and the excessive heat of that locality has had the effect of making Mr. Parcher break forth in rhyme. Judging from the following verses Fresno has reached the limit as far as heat is concerned and Mr. Parcher seems to yearn for the cool nights to which he is accustomed here in Glendale:

Backward, turn backward, Oh, heat in your flight;
Give me an iceberg just for tonight;
Give me a snowbank forty feet deep;
Give me anything to make me sleep.
Give me a pipeline to the nearest "cafe,"
Make it cold, send it quick, I pray;
I'll quaff from its brim, long and deep,
While they wrap me tight in a cold, wet sheet.
And rock me to sleep, mother, rock me to sleep;
How lovely the meadows in bright early morn,
How beautiful and green the fields of corn;
But Alas, this vast vista dispel,
One can't but exclaim, "It's hotter'n 'ell."

A DIFFERENCE

A recently returned American tourist tells of entering a hotel in a French town not far from Paris. He asked for a room and the hotel keeper took him to the top floor, where he showed very comfortable apartments at the surprisingly low figure of five franks a day. Marveling, but well satisfied, the American took a room.

Later in the day, while walking about the town, he met an acquaintance, who inquired where he was living, whereupon the fortunate tourist told of his excellent accommodations.

"Ah," said the friend, "what floor are you on?"

"The top floor."

"Yes; you have one of the Zeppelin parlors. Try to get a room in the basement and see what they will charge you!"

Mrs. Max Green, Misses Clara Armstrong, Barbara Green, Margaret and Katheryn Green, formed a party who spent the day Thursday at Ocean Park as guests of Mrs. Ed Kinnell of Los Angeles.

The Misses Hardgrade of San Diego are visiting their cousin, Mrs. S. P. Durand. The two young ladies expect to remain in these parts for about four weeks, part of which time is to be spent with Mrs. Durand.

Mr. Harlan Durand was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Carrillo of Ocean Park last week. After arriving home on Monday from Ocean Park, Mr. Durand left Tuesday for Catalina, where he will spend four or five days.

Miss Henrietta Horne was present Monday night at a reception given for her graduation class of Pasadena high school. Miss Horne was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Bently of Texas street. The reception was held at the home of Miss Knowlton.

A midsummer tree is to be held at the Sunday school August 22. The object of this tree is to collect Christmas presents for poor children in Foochow, China. If the gifts are sent to China during the month of August, they will reach their destination near Christmas time. All are asked to contribute liberally.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Anderson and daughter, Elsa; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Cooper and Misses Rowena and Lulu Green, who have been spending the week at the San Francisco fair, arrived home Saturday night. It is generally understood, although not definitely stated, that while on board ship Mr. Anderson suffered a severe attack of that "illness of the ocean."

Mr. Selleck, son-in-law of Mr. Sturdevant, who has owned the twenty-acre olive orchard on School street for twenty-five years, is planning to make his home in La Canada valley. Mr. Selleck will rent here until a bungalow can be constructed on the Sturdevant olive orchard. Mr. Selleck is a prominent San Francisco man and will no doubt be a valuable citizen to our valley.

Mr. Tyler Van Degrift and Robert Horne made a 30-mile trip through the mountains Sunday. They left La Crescenta at 5 a. m., walked to Switzer's camp, then across through Bear canyon and down to the mouth of Millard's canyon. On arriving at the mouth of Millard's canyon early in the afternoon, these two young men were met by relatives of Mr. Van Degrift from Los Angeles, also Miss Margaret and Hardwick Van Degrift and Henrietta Horne from La Canada.

GROWING BUSINESS

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Potts, proprietors of the Montrose store, are building up a good, thriving business. They are courteous to their customers and believe in giving them good values in merchandise at reasonable prices. The store is centrally located and thus is easily reached by the residents of Montrose and the adjoining valleys.

BURBANK

J. H. Flower of Glendale, who is now building the business block at the corner of Orange Grove avenue and the San Fernando road, has still further shown his confidence in Burbank and its future by buying the lot just across the street west from his present location and he authorizes us to say that he will build another business block thereon as soon as he can find a desirable tenant, and will plan the building to suit such an occupant.

Mr. Flower is one of Glendale's most prosperous and shrewdest business men. The various Flower blocks in Glendale's business section are monuments to his ability and business judgment and a credit to Glendale. By this purchase Mr. Flower becomes the owner of two of the best business corner locations in Burbank and our people can congratulate themselves and him on his identification with the real estate and business interests of the city.

Married—Boxall-King

Mrs. Winifred King of Burbank and Mr. Fred Boxall of Round Mountain, Nevada, were married at Goldfield, Arizona, on Thursday, August 12, 1915. The contracting parties are both well known to our citizens although the groom left here some years ago and is now an electrical engineer at Round Mountain. The bride has been very popular in Burbank's social affairs and an active member of the local P. E. O. sisterhood, a most winsome and attractive lady, whose host of friends here are wishing the happy couple every joy possible and success in all their undertakings.

Contractor Farley and his cement mixer have been mixing the cement for the foundation walls of the new Flower block this week.

O. C. Lane of the Ford garage attended the Ford carnival at Venice Saturday.

The Goodrich family moved last Monday from Olive street to Angeleno avenue.

Mrs. Borden and family are now at home to their friends in the residence on the corner of Fifth and Olive streets.

Miss Dolamay Evans of Oklahoma City, Okla., who has been the guest of Mrs. Frank Clark for the past week, left for Long Beach Thursday, where she will visit for a time before returning home.

Rev. Chase and family have moved into their beautiful new home on Palm avenue. Mr. Chase says they are just camping now, but when he gets the shavings and rubbish all cleaned up, he will consider that they are living there.

The Baraca and Philathea classes of the Methodist Sunday school met with Miss Jessie Bean at her home on Magnolia avenue Thursday evening for a business and social gathering, during which time delicious refreshments were served.

If you want to see some fine specimens of fruits, flowers or vegetables just stop and see those in the window at the city hall. Miss Peyton, our accommodating city clerk, nearly always has a nice assortment on display, contributed by different growers, which are a credit to Burbank.

Maurice McGuire and wife left on Wednesday by automobile on a two weeks' trip to the San Francisco exposition. Mrs. McGuire has relatives at San Francisco and Berkeley, where they will visit ere their return. Mr. McGuire is one of Burbank's live wires and this trip will give him a much needed change.

A "real city store in a small town" is what the Burbank Pharmacy is known by in the trade, and the business this drug store enjoys makes it well worth the time of Mr. L. I. Mulvey, the proprietor, to keep the store up to its present standard. This pharmacy carries an exceptionally large stock of drugs, sundries, photographic supplies, magazines, tobaccos, etc., and has a large and well equipped soda fountain in connection. The Burbank Pharmacy is located in the center of the business section of the city and draws its patronage from the greater part of the San Fernando valley.

Burbank has a meat market that enjoys one of the largest patronages of any in the San Fernando valley. E. B. Fowler is the proprietor of the Burbank Market, he purchasing the business about three and a half years ago, although Mr. Fowler has lived in this vicinity for about five years. Two auto deliveries are continually kept busy delivering meat to Burbank and the surrounding ranches. Not only does Mr. Fowler buy the best meats obtainable of the large packers, but he pays the highest cash prices for local live stock and butchers about one-third of the meat sold.

AUGUST

The yellow goldenrod is dressed
In gala-day attire;
The glowing redweed by the fence
Shines like a crimson fire;
And from the hot field's farthest edge
The cricket's soft refrain
With mellow accent tells the tale
That August's here again.

In shining blue the aster wild
Unfolds her petals fair;
The clematis, unpreaching, seeks
To clasp and kiss the air;
The brilliant poppy flaunts her head
Amid the ripening grain,
And adds her voice to swell the song
That August's here again.

The wild hop from the young elm's bough
Sways on the languid breeze,
And here and there the autumn tints
Gleam faintly through the trees.
All nature helps to swell the song
And chant the same refrain;
July and June have slipped away
And August's here again.

—Helen Maria Winslew.

CLOUD EFFECTS

Alice Meynell has written of the Southwest Wind—"He has a splendid way with his sky. In this flight, which is that, not of a bird, but of a flock of birds, he flies high and low at once; high with his higher clouds, that keep long in the sight of man, seeming to move slowly; and low with the colored clouds that breast the hills and are near the tree tops. These the southwest wind tosses up from his soft horizon, round and successive. They are tinted somewhat like ripe clover fields, or like hay fields just before the cutting, when all the grass is in flower, and they are, oftener than all other clouds, in shadow. These low-lying flocks are swift and brief; the wind casts them before him from the western verge to the eastern."

THY JUDGMENT

If thou art pained by any external thing, it is not this thing that disturbs thee, but thy judgment of it, and it is in thy power to wipe out this judgment now.—M. Aurelius Antonius.

THE PAINFUL TRUTH

"Miss Braddon, the English novelist, who has just died," said a publisher, "made $500,000 out of her books, her publisher's share being $1,500,000.

"Miss Braddon's great success she once told me, was due to her avoidance in her books of truth. Truth, she said, is the one thing the average novel reader doesn't want. For truth, you see, is unpleasant.

"She illustrated her point by a wife who asked her husband:

"'George, how do you like the new shade I've had my hair done?"

"'Well, my dear,' George began, 'to tell the truth—'

"'Stop right there, George,' his wife interrupted, 'stop right where you are; when you begin like that I don't want to hear you.'"—Ex.

MEAN INSINUATION

At a social affair in Boston the subject of marriage came up for discussion.

"Speaking of marriage," remarked one of the women guests, "I shall never quite understand one of the Biblical references to it."

"To which one do you particularly refer, Mrs. Jones?" asked another of the guests.

"About marrying in heaven," answered Mrs. Jones, thoughtfully. "Why do you suppose there is no marrying nor giving in marriage in heaven?"

"That's an easy one!" promptly chipped in a sarcastic matron. "I don't suppose there is a man in the place."

HER ULTIMATUM

"I'm sick to death of it all!" exclaimed Mary Jane one Monday morning. "I won't stand it any longer!"

She sought her mistress out and acquainted her with her intention of leaving.

The mistress became much distressed.

"Do you really mean it?" she asked. "What is the matter? Have we not always treated you just like one of the family?"

"Yes, mum," replied the girl very haughtily. "That's just it, and I've stood it as long as I'm going to!"
